

NUSSLI Group

Structures for Unforgettable Moments.

Temporary, modular, or permanent structures – NUSSLI has been implementing unique projects for national and international events, trade fairs, and exhibitions for decades. NUSSLI was founded in Switzerland in 1941, and has since developed into a global provider for sophisticated structures.

The combination of many years of industry experience and an international network of partners guarantees cost-effective and highly customized project implementations. Technically sophisticated products and a full range of integrated services allow us to complete our projects with short lead times and outstanding quality.

Sincere. Committed. Reliable.

From the first draft concept right down to the finished structure – in the role of planner, supplier or general contractor – we provide custom service solutions that clearly reflect the ideas and requirements of our clients. Our employees face and overcome architectural, technical, and logistic challenges on a daily basis, and take on full ownership of all quality and security issues for all our structures. We fulfill our orders faithfully, with complete commitment and reliability.

At home in the world.

In our core markets, Western Europe, the US and the Middle East, we are comprehensively represented with a number of regional offices. Our worldwide network of agencies, partners, and suppliers allows us to adapt local and international services to the exact needs of our clients requirements. We integrate local resources and form appropriate structures, wherever a project is to be implemented.

Flexible Organization with Customer Focus.

NUSSLI Group is structured by market segments, and uses cross-national divisions and business units. The client is at the heart of everything we do, benefiting from the know-how and competence of the Group as a whole.

Construction and manufacturing capabilities.

Quality and speed are among our core competences, and are supported by our own construction and manufacturing capabilities, which we use specifically for the benefit of our core services. We operate next generation workshops for the coating and processing of wood and metal.

We have been basing our success on modular construction systems right from the start, and provide infrastructure solutions with a variety of materials. We keep our finger on the pulse of market trends and requirements, which are then incorporated into our solutions – from the initial prototype to the final product. Our main focus lies on the functionality, safety and quality of our products.

Planning.

Our planning competence is based on experiences from numerous international sporting and cultural events. The yardstick for our actions is cost-efficiency, paired with sustainability. We always strive towards reaching a balance between usage for the actual event and later usage. Our planners put together studies, develop concepts, verify feasibility, plan temporary as well as permanent structures, calculate budgets, create time schedules, define specifications, and initiate tender submissions.

Overlay works.

As lead contractor, NUSSLI takes on the responsibility for planning and project management in the implementation of temporary event structures. We plan, deliver, and manage all event infrastructure from A to Z. We provide turnkey solutions for our clients needs.

Grandstands / stages.

The planning and installation of grandstands and stages is among our core competences. The modularity and versatility of our grandstand and stage systems allows for optimized application flexibility. Our proprietary systems are the result of decades of experience and solution competence, gained in practical event structure provision.

Modular stadium solutions.

Modular stadium structures by NUSSLI are the perfect choice with regards to safety, functionality and architecture. The structures can be endlessly adapted to new requirements and individual customer needs. The most important factors in modular stadium construction are flexibility in use as well as cost and time savings.

Trade fair construction.

NUSSLI provides customized trade fair stands – no matter what the desired shape or concept is. Supported by our own production facilities for metalworking, woodworking and interior construction, our services are exceptionally fast and efficient. Where feasible, we will also reutilize existing construction systems and materials into the trade fair stand.

Museum / exhibition construction.

We are a reliable partner for the museum and exhibition sector, and take pride in offering the extraordinary with precision and premium quality workmanship: Be it moving facades, accessible sculptures, museum installations, or topical exhibition experiences. NUSSLI supports clients throughout each phase of the project: From the initial idea and concept, to work schedules and final implementation.

Pavilion / hall construction.

NUSSLI erects halls and pavilions as light frame constructions, and works closely with all project partners from the initial concept idea to the final implementation. Our many years of experience allow us to implement outstanding architectural structures.

Wood construction / interior construction.

Quick response times and flexibility – these traits are possible only with own production facilities. We operate next generation workshops for the coating and processing of wood and metal, and have an own paint shop. We integrate local partners for service provision outside our core markets, and can therefore fall back on a tried and tested network of suppliers as needed.

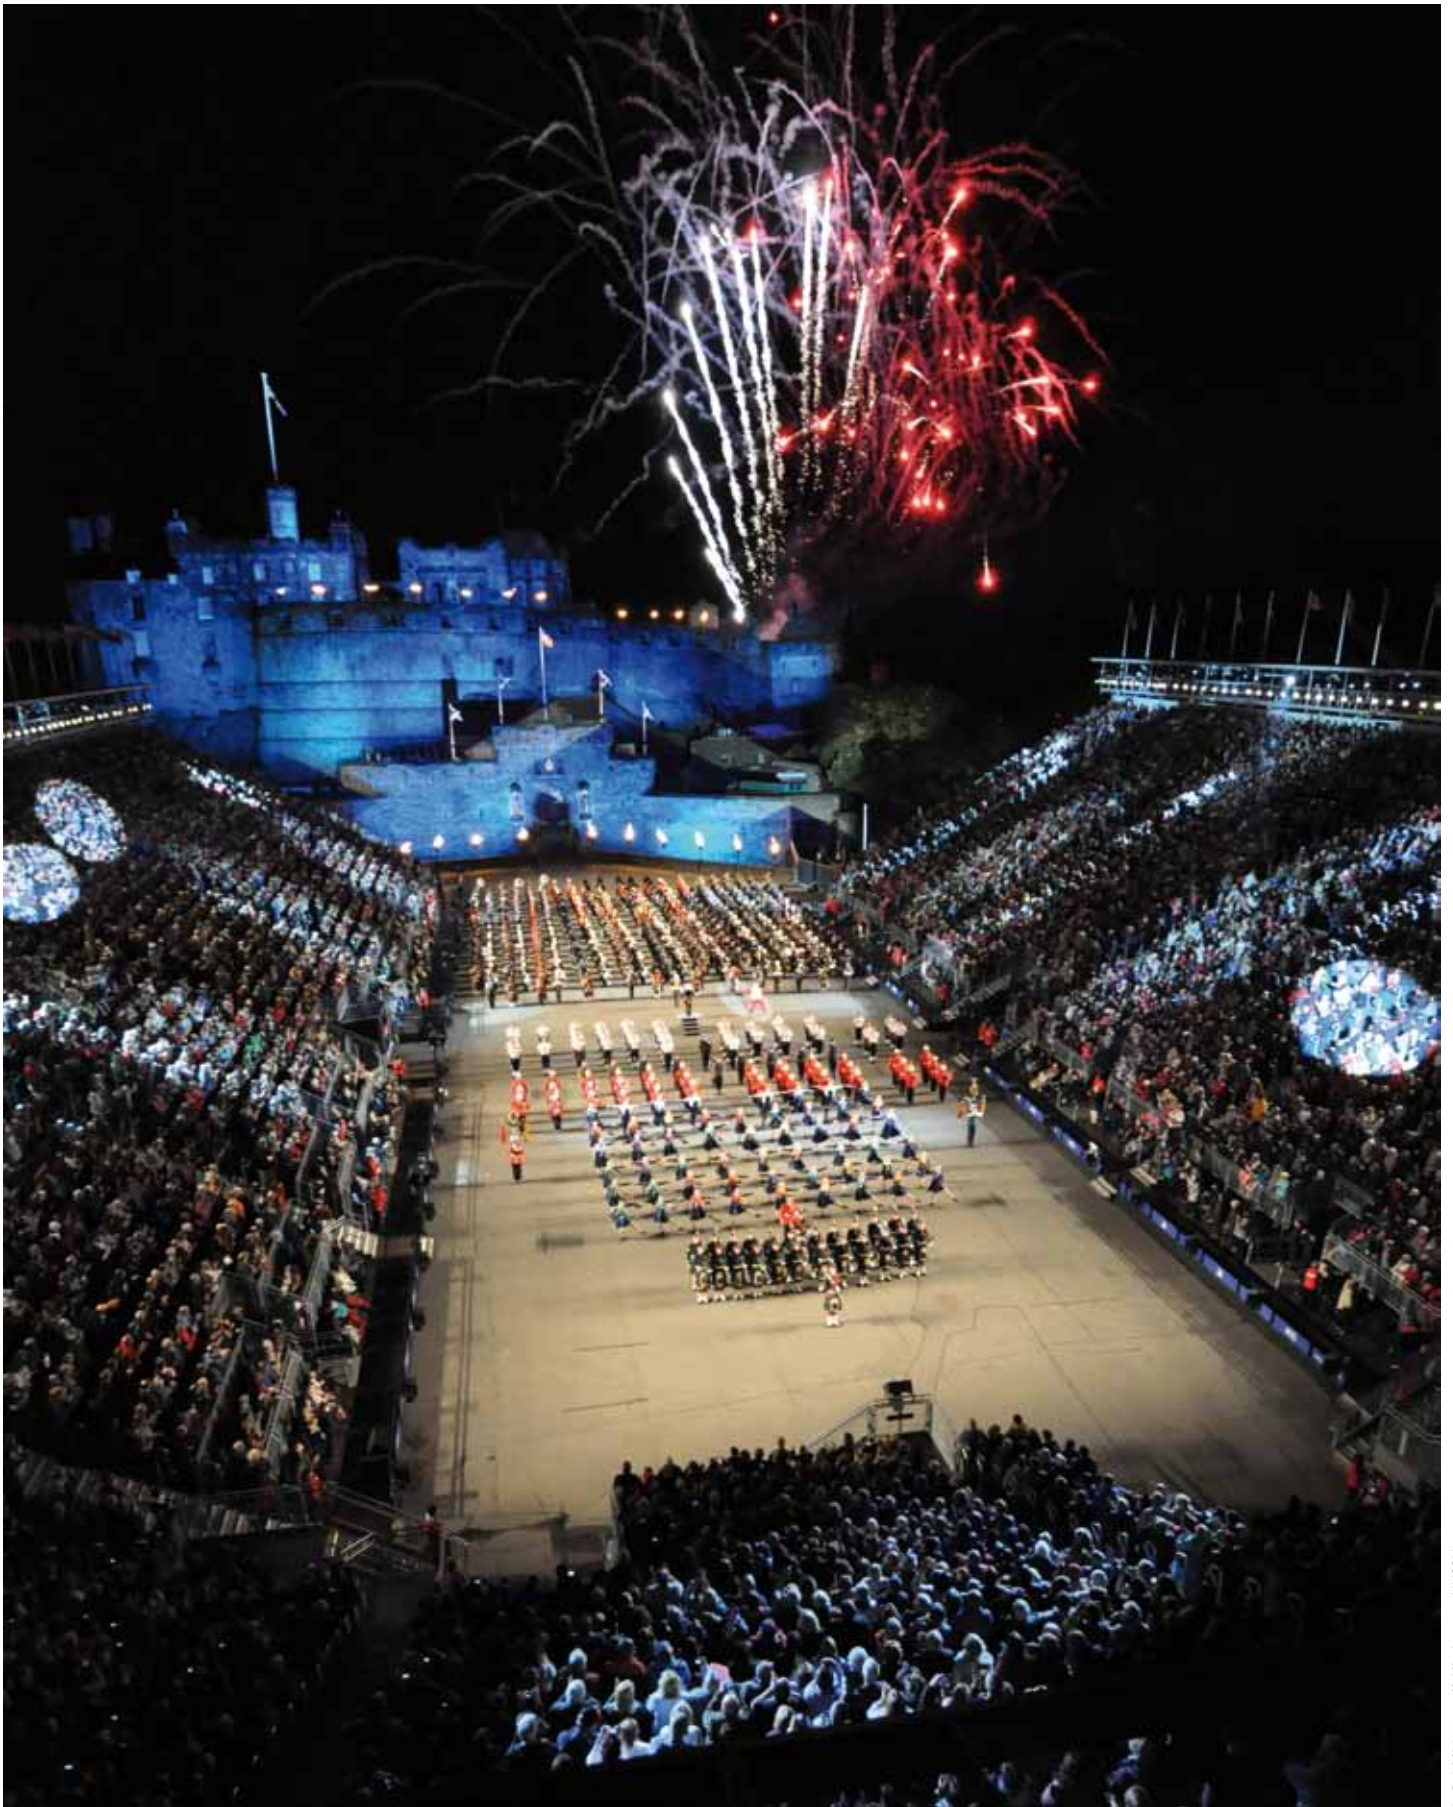

Quick, Economical and Safe.

A flexible and efficient organizational structure, sophisticated logistics, versatile construction systems, and state of the art planning equipment – these are just some of the characteristics that have placed us at the head of the competition. Inspection logs and international certifications attest to the fact that our modular systems comply with the strictest safety requirements in the world. In short: Safety is our top concern in everything we do.

Impressive Credentials.

Numerous testimonials and many international awards document the trust and confidence placed in NUSSLI's competences in the area of temporary and modular structures by companies, organizations, event organizers, and associations. All these clients have the highest expectations and requirements for quality, safety, and cost-efficiency. That is why they place their trust in NUSSLI.
